Painter Carolyn Case displays her oil paintings

Carolyn Case's oil paintings are multi-layered paintings that symbolize the complexity of culture and the constant demolition and rebuilding of cultural elements throughout history. Her process involves adding and subtracting layers of paint through sanding and scraping. The destruction of architecture, artifacts and sometimes the dilapidated state of past cultures are depicted. Multi-layered paintings symbolize the complexity of culture and the constant demolition and rebuilding of cultural elements throughout history. Her paintings are available for viewing through August 3 at Lux Art Institute, 1550 S. El Camino Real.
